

Pathway to Independence or Employment

Course Overview

This highly supported course is for learners who want to further develop their independence into adulthood. You will gain confidence, personal and social skills, in addition to gaining skills and experience that could help you to progress towards further study or supported employment.

You will be involved in active learning through a series of projects. The projects will allow you to action plan and produce evidence for your portfolio. Typical projects include working with external partners, employment tasters, employability, equality and diversity and safeguarding. There are also many practical activities to prepare for working life and independent living.

What You Will Study

Your programme of study will concentrate on improving and developing:

- Personal Relationships in Adulthood
- Safeguarding Self in Adulthood
- Rights and Responsibilities
- Community Participation including Travel Skills
- Independent Living Skills
- Social and Personal Skills
- Work-Related Activities
- English and Maths

On assessment of work readiness, there may be opportunities for work experience that would develop skills towards sustainable employment.

How You Will Be Assessed

By portfolio building, practical activities and production of work.
